A DEPLORABLE TRAGEDY.

L. J. Van Fleet's body was found in a creek about a mile west of Yoakum last Sunday morning, his death having resulted from drowning some hours previous.

Mr. Van Fleet was last seen in Yoakum about 9:45 Saturday night by friends. He left to walk alone to his camp, where he was doing grading work on the railroad, some distance out of town. He was walking down the railroad track and had to cross a deep creek by walking a trestle. It was drizzly weather, the track was slippery and the presumption is that he slipped on the trestle and fell into the water some distance below and was drowned.

A colored man and his wife were crossing the trestle Sunday morning and discovered a part of a man's head protruding from the water below the trestle. They could not reach him because of the steep banks on both sides of the creek and gave the alarm. Officers and physicians responded from Yoakum, recovered the body and attempted to resuscitate him but were too late.

Papers in his pockets identified him and his family was notified here.
John A. Horger and a party of relatives and friends went to Yoakum and returned with the body for burial at this place.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the residence of his son-in-law, Meliff Lippold, and interment was made in O-wood cemetery. Services were conducted at the residence by Revs. P. E. Lancaster, M. Williamson and A. M.
Foster, after which the members of the Masonic lodge took charge and conducted the services at the grave.

Louis J. Van Fleet was born October 5, 1871, at Linden, New Jersey.
He came to Texas about forty-five years ago and on February 21, 1894, was married to Miss Lucy C. Bost at San Marcos. He is survived by his widow and their five children, Clarence Van Fleet, Alton Van Fleet, Mrs. Meliff Lippold, Wilburn Van Fleet and Miss Lucille Van Fleet.
Five grand children also survive.

The family moved to Hondo in 1907 where for several years Mr.
Van Fleet engaged in farming. For the past several years, however, he has engaged in railroad grading contract work.

Deceased was the youngest of three children. His mother died when he was but five months old and his brother and sister having preceded him in death he was the last survivor of his family. He joined the Methodist church thirty-three years ago and lived a consistent member, dying beloved by all his brethren. He was likewise active in the Masonic and Odd Fellow lodges since being a resident of Medina County.

His tragic and untimely end has not only brought a crushing sorrow to his loved ones, but has grieved the entire community where he has been so long and so favorably known. A good citizen and a devoted husband and father has passed on and he will be missed.

This paper joins in sympathy for all who mourn.

Among the many relatives and friends from out-of-town to attend the funeral of the late Louis J. Van Fleet Monday were Mr. and Mrs.
H. B. Jones and little daughter of San Marcos, Mrs. Read Morgan of Fentress, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Bost and children of Luling, Mr. and Mrs.
J. E. Bost and children of Luling,
Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson of Buda, Mr.
Ed. Eve of Somerset, Miss Katherine Vie of Columbus, Mrs. S. E. Halliburton, Mesdames Crawford and Carter of Devine, Rev. and Mrs. A.
M. Foster of Devine and Rev. M.
Williamson of Crystal City and many others.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Noonan were over from Dunlay Saturday visiting homefolks. While here they paid the Anvil Herald office a pleasant call and contributed to the relief of the editorial "depression" by presents the editor with some choice

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK.

CLYDE F. KETNER, MANAGING EDITOR OF THE SHAMOKIN (PA.) DISPATCH, SAYS:
"Fear and hysteria followed an era of luxury throughout the trying years that have followed the World War and brought us to the present with an attitude of fear and trembling for the future.
The answer lies in judicious spending. Everywhere the attitude of cowardly hoarding is being abandoned for the better system advocated by financiers of making wise expenditures for things that will last.
"Soon we will emerge from the nightmare of depression and start on the broad, bright highway of moderate and lasting good times.
There have been other depressions. In the past one hundred and thirty years we have had thirteen of these lapses of prosperity.
We have passed through seven of the ten years in the present cycle.
and during the next three should forge ahead.
"THE TEMPORARY COLLAPSE OF THE WORLD'S BUSINESS
STRUCTURE WAS CAUSED BY A COMBINATION OF CIR-CUMSTANCES, AND ONLY THROUGH COURAGEOUS AND RE-
WELL-CONSIDERED ACTION CAN WE BRING ABOUT A RE-TURN OF PROSPERITY. THERE ARE GOOD YEARS AHEAD!"

RESTFUL SLEEP
for FRETFUL, FEVERISH CHILD

—With Castoria's regulation

When your child tosses and cries out in his sleep, it means he is not comfortable. Very often the trouble is that poisonous waste matter is not being carried off as it should be. Bowels need help—mild, gentle help—but effective. Just the kind Castoria gives. Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for children's ailments. It contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. Don't let your child's rest—and your own—be interrupted. A prompt dose of Castoria will urge stubborn little bowels to act. Then relaxed comfort and restful sleep! Genuine Castoria always has the name:

When PAIN Comes

WHAT many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes the acid instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water neutralizes instantly many times that much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use cruder methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go, get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"All Texans for All Texas"

Business Failures Drop.
Business failures have been hit hard by the statement of the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas that business failures in Texas in December in Texas than in any month since July. The croak had been predicting largely in the failures. There State dur failures in the entire State less the month, which was 27 less in November. January failures this date have been remarkably Business appears to have been to adapt itself to financial con even more quickly than have individuals. Business seems to be on the upgrade and all indic are that 1932 will be a sound year for those who practice conservative business methods.

Banks Re-opening.
The re-opening of closed banks in Texas cities and towns is an encouraging sign of better business. Banking Commissioner Shaw says that three-fourths of the banks that closed in October and November have been re-opened and that most of the others are in process of re-organization. The same state would apply equally as well to National banks that were closed. Others have learned a valuable lesson and will profit by it.

Eastern Bank Influence.
Not only will the small banks of Texas, including those of Texas, be more conservative in making loans, but they will hereafter be eager for large dividends to shareholders, but they will hereafter be easy to influence by large banks and international bankers. Recent investigations show billions of banking and private loans have gone into worthless loans on the advice of eastern bankers interests that have made millions of profits in commission because of the credulity of the small bankers and the investing public. If this could have been placed at home to the advantage of local banks and local borrowers.

Lowering Tax Rates.
Many Texas cities and towns have been studying tax rates to their advantage and have been able to introduce economies that have resulted in lower rates. New Braunfels, for instance, has reduced its rate 14 per cent in the face of a $212,000 increased property valuation. Other cities have made similar reductions, with budgets requiring extra expenditure for equipment. Many have reduced salaries of officials. One is following the example of Austin in selling all city-owned automobiles and requiring officers and employees to use their own cars at their own expense. States, counties and municipalities have been wasting public money in needless ownership and maintenance of automobiles.

Progressive Texas Movement.
Recognizing that the proposed Texas Centennial celebration will contribute more to Texas development than perhaps any other movement that could be inaugurated for the progress of the State, the recent meeting of the board of directors of Progressive Texas, Inc., has for its purpose the building up of Texas industries, is sponsored by the three national chambers of commerce of the State and is officered by a young body of prominent business men devoted to the industrial development of Texas.

Patronize Home Merchants.
The Elgin Courier calls attention to the fact that Elgin lost at least a good business recently because the good people did their Christmas shopping elsewhere. Not only that, but the Courier, but rents were lost in business house and residences, other stores lost the trade of the owner and clerks, the bank lost good account, the power and light company lost a customer, the city at a tax rendition and water and sewer bills, citizens lost good neighbors—everybody and everything in Elgin lost something because Elgin people did not buy things at home at prices in many instances lower than they paid in other towns.

Mohair Mill Building.
The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association has started negotiations for the use of the San Marcos Cotton Mills as a nucleus for a Texas mohair mill. The San Marcos building was erected several years ago for a cotton mill, but was never equipped with machinery. San Marcos is in the line of the great mohair section of Texas and the location is ideal for a mohair mill.

Working Kaolin Deposits.
The Texas Rock Asphalt Company of San Antonio has started to develop deposits of kaolin in Real county, about 45 miles north of Uvalde. This deposit is said to be one of the largest in the State and has attracted considerable attention for several years. It has been used to a limited extent in the manufacture of pottery, but, following experiments, new uses are to be made of the clay.

Making Cans in Texas.
A large can manufacturing company has purchased an industrial site in Houston with the purpose of building a can manufacturing plant. The large increase in canning, especially home canning, in Texas in recent years, has attracted attention to the manufacture of cans as a profitable Texas industry.

Llano County Prospers.
The Llano News says postoffice receipts at Llano in 1931 were larger than in 1930, building activities show an increase, banks have more money, the turkey and pecan crops were larger, the granite business was good, the payroll at Hamilton Dam helped business, and concludes: "It does seem that most of our howl about depression has been an imaginary matter, and we have complained simply because those more unfortunate, living in a more unfavorable section have had cause for complaint." If investigated, it would be found that most of that complaint from other sections was not based so much on known conditions as on reports about still worse conditions in still other sections. "Somebody said that somewhere else some people were suffering 'just awful'."

Neff Publishes Book.
Ex-Gov. Pat M. Neff has issued a book composed largely from addresses he has delivered from time to time in Texas. It is an inspirational little volume dedicated to the youth of Texas, "citizens of tomorrow," and, as he says in the foreword, "filled with the sentiments of my heart, and dealing primarily with the history, the romance and the high destiny of Texas." It will have a useful place in planting seeds of good citizenship and budding patriotism in the lives of Texas boys and girls, as it is permeated with the lofty ideals that have characterized the life of Governor Neff.

Home Economics News Letter.
Another helpful publication that has reached me is the monthly Home Economics News Letter of the State Board of Vocational Education, and edited by Miss Lillian Peek, Supervisor. Of special interest are the reports of the activities of home economic students in schools throughout the State, showing the numerous practical projects in which they are engaged and how they are being definitely worked out. A reading of the news letters is most convincing evidence of the value of the work being done in home economics training in the schools of the State.

Some Farm Facts.
Irvin Ellebracht of Mason county got $1.12 per bushel for corn and 50 cents a bushel for oats fed to 13 fattening calves.
Mrs. A. C. Voyles of Delta county kept the grocery bill for a family of five down to $16.00 for four months—$4.00 a month—by having plenty of vegetables grown in her own garden.

Four dairy demonstrators in Corvell county realized 45 cents a bushel for oats and 76 cents for corn by feeding to dairy cows.

Robert Rogers, a Wharton county boy, fed eight pigs corn and hoggar for which he realized $1.64 a hundred pounds, when mixed with rice polish, cotton seed meal and tankage.

Mrs. W. C. Rogers of Howard county, sold eggs at $1.09 a dozen in the form of angel food cakes and chess pies. With this she placed a new floor in the living room, made sheet rock walls that she papered, put in a new glass door, refinished the piano and living room furniture, made a writing desk and bought a library table.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS.
By Frank R. Kent.
GARNER LEADERSHIP.

Washington, Jan. 5.
It is beginning to be apparent that Mr. John N. Garner, the newly-elected Democratic Speaker of the House, is the real leader of his party, so far as Congress is concerned. Moreover, there is promise that he is going to make a good one.

It is apparently the House leadership and not the Senate leadership that is going to shape Democratic policy on tariff, on taxation, on relief, and practically everything else. This means Mr. Garner. In other words, Mr. Garner stands out today as the most powerful and important Democrat in Congress. Nor is this primarily due to the fact that he is Speaker. He might be Speaker and not be any more important than the Vice-President, who presides over the Senate. The Speaker of the House to be the boss of the House has got to have better leadership qualities than any other member of his party in the House. That is exactly what Mr. Garner has.

For example, if Mr. Rainey, the present floor leader, were Speaker and Mr. Garner the floor leader, Mr. Garner and not Mr. Rainey would still be the real leader. That is too clear to be disputed. Those in touch with the situation know that it is Mr. Garner who maintains party discipline among House Democrats, maps out the party program and is recognized as having the deciding voice in every matter of party policy. Further, when it is considered that Mr. Garner has behind him a Democratic majority of only four, his success thus far in keeping that majority intact—and in attendance—is remarkable. He got over the high hurdles of patronage and committee distribution with a minimum of friction and a maximum of content. He has succeeded in convincing his party army of the necessity of answering every roll call every day with every vote.

This situation is a real tribute to Mr. Garner. It could not exist unless he had exercised tact, firmness and intelligence. While all tax and tariff measures must originate in the House, in the past Senate views have shaped these measures and House leaders have usually sought Senate advice before bringing out their views. This time, while Democratic Senators, of course, will be consulted because their cooperation is essential, there is every indication that the House leadership—which means Jack Garner—will initiate not only in form but in fact. In brief, Speaker Garner, with a unified party behind him constituting a functioning majority, is in better position to have his way in party matters than the Senate leadership, which is short of a majority and where any bill to pass must get Republican or Progressive votes.

Appreciating these facts, recognition of Garner as the outstanding Democrat of the session upon whom, more than anyone else, depends the character of the Democratic record is general. It is encouraging, from the Democratic viewpoint, that he seems to be keeping not only his head but his sense of humor and proportion. He seems neither elated nor depressed by the loud advocacy in a certain section of the press of him as the Presidential candidate. He consistently turns down the multitudinous invitations, some of which are pressed pretty hard, to make addresses here and about, on the ground that

How to train BABY'S BOWELS
Babies, bottle-fed or breast-fed, with any tendency to be constipated, would thrive if they received daily half a teaspoonful of this old family doctor's prescription for the bowels.
That is one sure way to train tiny bowels to healthy regularity. To avoid the fretfulness, vomiting, crying, failure to gain, and other ills of constipated babies.
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. For this, you have the word of a famous doctor. Forty-seven years of practice taught him just what babies need to keep their little bowels active, regular; keep little bodies plump and healthy. For Dr. Caldwell specialized in the treatment of women and little ones. He attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby.

of the proceedings. He comes pretty close to being the ideal man for the present situation. The party does not need a great statesman nor a genius in his job at this time. What it needed was a man who knows the game and can play it. And that is what it got in Garner.—Baltimore Sun, Jan. 6, 1932.

Is God Great or Little?

Anthony Collins, known in his day as a skeptic and freethinker met a plain countryman on his way to church. "Why are you going to church?" he asked. "To worship God," was the reply. "And is this God you worship a great or a little God?" asked Collins whimsically. He "He is so great, sir, that the heaven of heavens cannot contain Him, and so little that he can dwell in my heart," was the unexpected answer. Collins declared that this simple answer from this unassuming countryman had more effect upon his mind than all the volumes which learned doctors had written against him.

When we condemn—put something better in its place.

HORGER MORTUARY NEARING COMPLETION.

On the completion within the next few weeks of the J. A. Horger Funeral Home, Hondo will have a fine, modernly built and equipped Mortuary that would do credit to a much larger city than Hondo. The former quarters of the funeral parlor were three rooms which have been utilized, forming the display room and the preparation room at the rear of the building. The large, airy interior is made up of six rooms. On the north side, extending the length of the building, is the main room or chapel, with an offset to be used as the family room at the time of services.

On the south exposure are three smaller rooms, the first at the front entrance being an office, the next a bedroom for the convenience of out-of-town relatives or friends, and the third the ladies' lounge and rest room. A spacious hall runs the length of the building, with two entrances for visitors, and a private side entrance which leads to the family room and opening on a concrete drive way, on the south side for the hearse and family cars.

The rear of the Funeral Parlor is arranged into a lounge, the display or show room and the preparation room.

The entire interior is to be furnished in light-colored woodwork and paper, and modern, comfortable conveniences are to be installed on completion of the building.

Every possible aid for the comfort and privacy of the bereaved is to be the aim in the arrangement of this new Funeral Home, states Mr. Horger, local mortician, and everything possible to that effect is being accomplished.

The exterior of the building is to be painted white with a dark finish on roof and windows. Concrete walks and drives are to go into construction in several days and after the yard is landscaped, a spacious, modern funeral home of attractive appearance will be at the service of the public.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

Religion-personal, is the matter of first concern, and it is the supreme consideration, when life's sun goes down. The churches are endeavoring to bring Christian experience to every heart; to make the love of Christ real and precious to all. You are urged to be wise; to come and worship with us. The world, with its cheap allurements, will certainly fail you. Disappointment and chaff will mock you, by supplying you no ground for hope; no inspiration of strength, in the day of weakness. The church will furnish you the sweet glow of fellowship with God and also with his people. Decide now to worship with us at the Baptist church on next Sunday. You will find fraternal welcome. At eleven o'clock, the Pastor will speak on God's Help For You.

Following the sermon, the membership will be asked to vote for a pastor for the ensuing year. It would be well for every member to be present.

The Bible school which meets at ten o'clock, is increasing in interest. The physical equipment for the accommodation of the School has been much improved. We urge our men—Mr. Fluker's Class—to be on hand. We miss you—every one—when absent. The T. E. L. Class are completely overhauling their Classroom. All will want to see it. The basement has been remodeled entirely. There are now five separate rooms, for the accommodation of the Primary department. Let the entire enrollment be on hand next Sunday. Our music is an attractive feature of our worship. Give it your full encouragement. Let us all determine to make this year a happy one in the service of our blessed Lord. Remember "I must work the works of Him that sent me while it is day; the night cometh when no man can work." Jno. 9:4.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY APPROVES PLANS.

Plans and estimates for the beautification of September Square in Castroville were placed before the Castro Colony Historical Association at a meeting for that purpose, Sunday, at Castroville, and were discussed, approved and adopted by that Society. The committee, headed by Mr. Herbert Mills as chairman, and Mrs. H. V. Haass, Jr., Miss Ruth Lawler, Mrs. Gabe Jones, Mrs. Louis Schott, Mr. Joe Steinle and Mr. Herbert Tondre formulated the plans and received estimates from nurserymen, with the result that at a minimum cost, the little plot of ground where the monument to the Castroville settlers is laid will soon be a lovely park to delight the eye. The plans include a curbing of natural rock, concrete walks, and trees shrubbery and flowers to be planted. Work will begin immediately on the curbing, and the planting of evergreens and poplar trees will begin as soon as roadway is made with the rock work. September Square will then be a spot of beauty of which the citizens of Castroville and Medina County will be proud and which will be a fitting recognition of the settlers of Castroville.

CARD OF THANKS.

We, the widow and sons of V. H. Blocker, wish to extend to our many and wonderful friends of Hondo and vicinity our sincere thanks for the lovely floral offerings, personal calls, telegrams and letters containing expressions of sympathy in the loss of our beloved husband and father who passed on on January 9, 1932.

Our grief has been comforted in the knowledge that the many friends of our husband and father and of ourselves took cognizance of our great loss.

To the people of Hondo and vicinity we feel that they have nobly carried out the views of Wilde as true and loyal friends.

"If a friend of mine gave a feast, and did not invite me to it, I should not mind a bit—but if a friend of mine had a sorrow and refused to allow me to share it, I should feel it most bitterly. If he shut the doors of the house of mourning against me, I would move back again and again and beg to be admitted, so that I might share in what I was entitled to share. If he thought me unworthy, unfit to weep with him, I should feel it as the most poignant humiliation; as the most terrible mode for which disgrace could be inflicted on me—he who can look on the loveliness of the world and share its sorrow, and realize something of the wonder of both, is in immediate contact with divine things, and has got as near to God's secret as any one can get." (Wilde).

EDITORIALS

A MODEL CHRISTMAS POEM.

The following appeared in last issue of Fletcher's Farming, published out at Hondo:

MY CHRISTMAS WISH FOR YOU.

By Fletcher Davis.

May the darker be your Christmas night
The brighter be the candles' glow;
And sharper the winter's chilling bite,
Greater the warmth your heart shall know!

We call that nicely and succinctly put. Fletcher Davis is editor of Fletcher's Farming, a real farm paper, and also a weekly paper at Hondo, devoted to local news. He will be kept too busy to ever think of running for an office.—Fred B. Robinson in Waco News-Tribune.

Here is our best wishes for a prosperous 1932 to all of FARMING'S readers!

Sometimes it is better to endure the ills we have than flee them to rush into others we know not of. Want and suffering are deplorable and any reasonable recourse should be adopted to ameliorate them. But this country will rue the day it adopts any kind of a dole system.

With practically every product of the farm selling below the cost of production little can be gained by shifting from one crop to another. Under such conditions it is well to remember that the first thing to be considered is the living. The self-sustaining farm will be the most prosperous farm in 1932 no matter what prices prevail for cash crops.

The year just passed was hard on every farmer because of the slump in the price of his produce. But nature smiled on most of them with an abundance and no man ever starved or went broke with a crib full of corn and a smokehouse full of pork. The law of eternal fitness should do more in regulating crop acreage in 1932 than any statutory enactments.

Farm work, for the most part, is getting off to a late start in Texas and no doubt many crops will be rushed in without a properly prepared seed-bed. This is regrettable, as in such event only ideal moisture conditions during the growing season can prevent failure of the crops to produce maximum yields. It would be a grim joke on the "over-production" calamity howlers if the laws of nature and not the cotton acreage reduction law brought about the coveted (?) lessened production.

A movement to make Speaker John N. Garner the party's standard bearer in the race for President this year is assuming considerable proportions. Unless the party expects to again make Governor Smith its standard bearer and get wholeheartedly behind him and his policies and take up the fight again where it ceased in 1928, Mr. Garner is the logical man. No other Eastern man can supplant Smith and make the showing in 1932 that he made in 1928. No Western dry can hold the Smith following in line. There is no reason why the party may not unite solidly under the leadership of Garner.

"MR. SPEAKER!"

HON. JOHN N. GARNER.

Hon. John N. Garner, veteran Democratic Representative in Congress from this, the 15th District of Texas, was elected Speaker of the House by his colleagues Monday, December 7, 1931. Mr. Garner has represented this District since 1902.

Apropos of a paragraph in Father Vernimont's "Musings", elsewhere in this paper, we are sure that he would not be understood as blaming the automobile per se for "bringing depression on our country". Automobile vehicles are one of the most useful mechanical contrivances ever invented by the ingenuity of man, and if they had to be given up all at once it would upset the whole economic and social scheme of things and bring untold inconvenience and suffering upon many. But like every other thing which, when properly used, blesses mankind, the automobile has been grossly misused to the hurt of many. The evil is not in the automobile itself, but in the abuse of the possibilities that lie within it. As this is written, we enjoy the comforts of a cheerful fire. So long as we keep it confined within its proper limitations it warms us, cooks our food and ministers to our well-being and comfort. Let it out of proper bounds and it will destroy the home it is meant to cheer and may spread conflagration and ruin about the town. Yet because of this potential danger, we are not expected to extinguish the fire that warms the hearthstone. So is it with the automobile. In the material affairs of man, it is his chief concern to make the proper use of the powers that lie ready to his hand and to avoid their misuse.

If it becomes necessary for the tax payers' money to be used to feed the hungry, those who eat should be made to work. There is work enough on the public roads needing to be done for every idle man to earn his food if the work were organized and properly directed. If they did nothing more than plant trees along the highways it would be far better than supporting them in idleness with a dole.

Nineteen hundred and thirty-two can be worse than 1931. Although 1931's crops brought little money there is an abundance of feed on most farms. Better depression prices than famine crops.

LEGISLATIVE SESSIONS NO RELIEF.

Fletcher's Farming, published out at Hondo, has the following in last issue:

If a burnt child dreads the fire and farmers have the intelligence of children, they must look with fear and trembling upon any further promises of legislative farm relief. When they asked the Texas legislature for help they got a law that limits the use of their land without reducing their taxes, adds to their perplexity as to how to manage successfully when most were already failing, and threatens to render hundreds of tenants both homeless and jobless without making any provision for their sustenance.

Many will agree to the above, as to the utility of extra sessions, and if there should be one to repeal the cotton acreage law, they think it should not be for longer than one or two days, with no other subject to be considered. While cotton reduction is greatly to be desired, it looks now the new law will be largely disregarded, if not repealed. Hence, repeal would seem to be the better method.—Fred B. Robinson in the Waco News-Tribune.

Texas will attain her hundredth anniversary of independence in 1936. It is highly appropriate that the event be celebrated in a manner befitting the occasion and a centennial celebration is being talked of. Unfortunately for the people with which it should be acclaimed, the proposal is being advocated to submit a constitutional amendment to the votes of the state empowering the legislature to appropriate state funds for the purpose. Texas should set no such precedent in appropriating the people's money, and to propose it is to jeopardize the whole undertaking by arousing the resentment of the taxpayers against being coerced into supporting it financially. Such an enterprise should be promoted by free-will offerings or not at all and if Texas hasn't enough patriotic wealth to put it over voluntarily it should drop the whole matter before attempting to further mulct an already overburdened body of taxpayers.

A number of Brazos valley cotton farmers have associated themselves together to bring a test case in court to determine the constitutionality of the much talked of Texas cotton acreage law. This is the proper step to dispose of the matter, and if a court can be found with a decent regard for the constitutional rights of the individual the farce will soon be but a shameful memory. But if our courts are as poor in judicial integrity as a time-serving legislature was lacking in statesmanship when it enacted it, we need not be surprised at what kind of a verdict may be cooked up in their judicial stew. If our constitution is not sufficiently plain to invalidate the law in the minds of the most obtuse judiciary then Texas is in need of a new bill of rights in her constitution.

Those who think a Texas man is geographically eliminated from the running in the race for the Presidency forget Texas is now a doubtful state. That is a useful service the Hooverites did for Texas all unintentionally.

More pigs, more pork; more pork, less living costs. Raise more pigs and reduce the cost of living.

JOHN GARNER FOR PRESIDENT

By James E. Ferguson in Ferguson's Forum.

I do not know whether the Democratic party can defeat Mr. Hoover or not. With all Mr. Hoover's mistakes the Democratic party is yet a long ways from victory. To criticize is one thing. To propose something is another. It is long known that the Republic has a way of getting to the right time and is as good as well known that the Democrats in the past have many times acted a fool at the right time.

To win the national election this year the Democrats must have a candidate and a platform of courage and brains. The party is now entering on a stormy sea. To weather the tempest and reach port victory the boat must be sound and the captain fearless. It is going to take astute sagacity to steer the craft between the rocks.

The question which we as Democrats must answer correctly should be studied now and carefully considered. It will not be long before the Democrats will begin to feel the effects of the course of the Democratic party may be beset with trouble that it can not control. Let us therefore at once begin to discuss men and measures while we think coolly and rationally.

In proposing the name of John Garner for president in these columns some five weeks ago I was impelled more by what seemed to me then and appears to me now the logic of the situation than a feeling of home pride in a favorite son.

John Garner has never been a partisan of mine nor I of him. He owes me nothing and I owe him nothing politically. In fact, all the conversation that I have had with him put together would not make a three hours' conference. While our relations have always been the most cordial yet his engagements in Washington and my engagements in Texas have kept us apart. I mention these facts in order that what I may say may be considered and based upon solely what it ought to be—the merits of the case.

To want to elect somebody president simply because he hails from the same state is a weak proposition to go to the American people with. It is now not so much where anybody is from as it is what they are for. This must have been uppermost in the minds of the Democrats in congress when they elected John Garner without a dissenting voice to the speakership, a position second only to the presidency of the nation. It shows that the Democrats can get together. We are now concerned with how to keep them together. John Garner is the answer to that proposition. If he is not the complete answer to the proposition he comes nearest being the answer than any other living Democrat. His ability, year after year, so strongly appealed to the leaders of the Democratic party that they felt impelled to give him this distinguished honor for the best interests of the party. It would be a reflection on the intelligence of the Democratic congress to say that he was elected to rule over it for any other reason. The fact that he is a Southern man shows that the Democratic party has risen to the need and demands of the situation to elect a leader regardless of political geography or sectional prejudice. It is a good omen to Democratic success, which needs but to be followed to insure Democratic victory this year.

John Garner is perhaps the best informed citizen on national and international issues of any man in public life today. For more than 20 years he has been an untiring student in the school of public service and national welfare. What a contrast it will be in this year's campaign to discuss John Garner, the statesman, who has preserved, preached and perpetuated democracy, and Herbert Hoover who has ditched, drained and damned the country in less than three years. To state the proposition is but to record victory. God forbid that we Democrats shall ever act a fool again.

If John Garner is not a winner then what other Democrat can win? Answer me that.

If we nominate Governor Roosevelt of New York or Governor Ritchie of Maryland then they will spend all their time trying to tell the people how necessary it is to repeal the 18th amendment and they will bust the Democratic party wide open over something that could not be done in 10 years if it ever can be done. What this country needs now is a plan to get something to eat and wear rather than a row over something to drink. If we nominate Mr. Baker of Ohio or Owen Young we then surrender to the international banking group that will cut us off from any criticism of the present administration for foreign financial entanglements. What this country needs now is some more money at home and let foreign troubles alone.

The nomination of John Garner will save us all these embarrassments and antagonisms. I call upon our Texas congressmen to ponder well these possibilities and to begin at once to render further service to the country by actively presenting to the new united Democratic congress, the statesman, John Garner, not as the favorite son of Texas, but as the successful son of Texas the next president to be.

I call upon the people of Texas to qualify themselves as voters at once, and organize Garner clubs for president and let us send a united delegation to the national convention to Garner votes for John Garner enough and overflowing to continue him the leader of a united democracy that will give us more money and less taxes without which death will be our doom and destruction will be our destiny.

These two sentences are from a letter sent to us by Gypsy Simon Smith.

Mr. Smith spends his public life in the germ-laden atmosphere of crowds in hall, church or tabernacle. He goes from an overheated meeting place into the outer air spiritually uplifted, but physically exhausted.

His profession demands that he do the very things that he should not do if he wants to avoid catching cold. He is in position to speak with authority on the subject.

COLONIAL COVERINGS.

On popular request "Gun Smoke" comes to the Colonial Theatre Saturday for a second showing. It's a thriller that's packed with thrills. And its plot is a plot that brings the exploits of hard-riding Western ranch-hands and horse-hunters into the limelight of the present moment. It is that modern! For "Gun Smoke" tells of the doings of a gang of big city racketeers who go to the quiet little western town of Bunsen, Idaho, to "hide out" from the arm of the law. The result is "lead poisoning" for a lot of the characters in the action. Richard Arlen and Mary Brian are teamed in the romantic leads. The chief comedy honors are divided by Eugene Palette and Louise Fazenda. William Boyd plays the role of the gangland leader.

Drama, neither stark nor terrifying, but intensely real, human and emotionally exciting, comes to the Colonial Theatre Monday and Tuesday. It is contained in "The Lawyer's Secret", in which an excellent and all-star cast, headed by Clive Brook, Charles Rogers and Richard Arlen, brings to life a tense complication of modern-day living. "The Lawyer's Secret" is the story of a professional man's fight to preserve the ethics of his profession and his love for a girl, Fay Wray, by stifling his natural human duty to prevent injustice to an innocent man. Supporting parts are carried by Jean Arthur, Francis McDonald and others.

A return showing of the four Marx Brothers in "Monkey Business" is scheduled for the Colonial Theatre Thursday and Friday. "Monkey Business" presents scores of amusing situations. See Groucho, Harpo, Chico and Zeppo, the four Marx Brothers, "cross and double-cross the Atlantic in a hurricane of laughs."
